

Mrs Anstead, possibly buried at Whroo

Waranga Chronicle

13 May, 1875

King Death is still busy amongst us. Mr Sharp, of Whroo, has to mourn the loss of two of his sons, and Mr Collier of the same place has also lost two children, the cause being dysentery following measles.

We have also to report the demise of Mrs Anstead who had been residing here with her husband, almost since the first rush.

Footnote: Whroo cemetery interment records do not include an Anstead, nor do Rushworth cemetery records. She may have been buried elsewhere. Whroo must be regarded as the most likely, possibly in a grave outside the cemetery reserve.
