

Miss Constance Haines

Murchison Advertiser

7 June, 1907

It is with deep regret we [Nagambie Times] have to chronicle the death of Miss Constance Sarah Haines, which took place at Nagambie last week, the cause of death being tuberculosis.

The deceased, who had been ailing for about twelve months, had been sent away for a holiday, but the malady could not be stayed, and she died as stated.

The late Miss Haines was of a quiet, amiable disposition, and was greatly beloved by all who knew her. She was a clever musician, and last year was successful in gaining a first prize at the Goulburn Weir competitions.

The interment took place at Whroo, and was largely attended.

The plaque in the cemetery records the age of Miss Haines as 18 years.
